Wifi won't connect to home wifi but can connect to other networks. Other devices can connect to home wifi except my laptop - [Solved]

2019/08/27

hey guys, so my laptop was able to connect to my house wifi for about a year but it suddenly it won't connect to the wifi. I brought my laptop to school and it's able to connect to wifi easily, but when I come back home i can't access the internet. all of my parents and sibling's devices are connected except mine. I ould troubleshoot the problem and it would work for like 5 seconds. On google it would say the DNS server couldn't be found or the network is changing and then it would say there is no internet access. please help, I need this computer to do school work and it's frustrating to do everything by hand when there are no resources available. stuff I tried but didn't work: netsh int ip reset c:\resetlog.txt ipconfig/release ipconfig/renew resetting network settings restarting computer manually connecting to wifi Factory Reset PC Refresh updating network drivers on device manager uninstalling antivirus programs EDIT so i am using the ethernet cable and the wifi is very fast. however, i need to use my laptop with wireless because my office is in the upstairs. is there anyway I could fix this???
